GERMANY'S DEAD RULER.

Frederick's Funeral Will Be Very Simple Only the Immediate Relatives Attending. Porspan, June 16 .- It was at 6:30 A. M., yes terday morning that the Emperor | received sourishment for the last time. It consisted of s little wine and whisky. Afterward he fell into a partial slumber which was scarcely broken. The Empress Victoria held his right hand in both of hers, while the Crown Prince, Prince Henry, and their sisters stood on the other side of the bed. Shortly after 11 the Emperor heaved a deep sigh as if he wanted to rise once more, but being deprived of all his strength, he sank back upon the pillows.

The body has been embalmed, but by the deceased Emperor's own request will not lie in Emperor William II has affixed his first signature to a document permitting the Emperor Frederick's testament to be opened. The Volksblatt says: "We cannot refrain

The German embassadors have been instructed by telegraph to inform the courts to which they are accredited, that it was Emperor Fredprick's last wish to avoid all pomp at his funeral, and that therefore, with the exception of his nearest relatives, no foreign sovereigns nor nembers of sovereign houses will be expected to attend the funeral. Since 10 o'clock this morning a ceaseless stream of visitors has passed through Friedmortuary chamber and taking a last look at the dead Empeter. Splendid floral gifts, mingled with modest wreaths and bouquets from the poor, have been deposited in the chamber. Evaryone who desires to enter is admitted, and the srowd increases every hour. Von Werser to-day made a sketch of the Em-peror's body, which lies covered with a purple

The skin is of a yellowish hue and the hands are greatly emaciated. Many ladies and gentlemen watched the artist at his work. The Vienne Neue Freie Presse publishes a letter from Prof. Virchow, dated Berlin, March 27, dealing with the attacks upon Dr. Mackenzie, wherein he declared that he (Dr. Mackenzie) with his great experience, certainly agreed with the diagnosis of his German colleagues, and in concealing the nature of the malady from the Emperor acted as a man and a physician should act in such a case. Deception, in such circum-stances, he aids, is a moral act.

A person who saw the Emperorat Charlottenburg preserved a paper wherein the Emperor bad written the following: "One of the most consoling circumstances of my severe trial is to be shown what is said of me in the French pa-pers. I certainly endeavor-d by every means in my power to mitigate the hardships of war when I was at Versailles, but still war was very rigorous, as it must always be to the conquered. It gave me fresh faith in human nature to find how the French forgot the evil I had to do them, and only remember those that were good. Their present state of feeling makes me bate war more than I ever did in my life."

The remains of Emperor Frederick were placed in a coffin to-night and then carried to the catafalque which bad been erected in the Jasper gallery. The coffin is identical with that in which Emperor William was buried. The funeral service was read in the Jasper gal lery by Chaplain Kogel. At the head of the bier a black baldachin had been erested, while around the catafalque are numerous foot-stools. Prince and Princess Henry personally superintended the arrangements. All the members of the imperial family were present at the service. The transfer of the remains to their final resting place will take place on Monday morning. The Disease Was Cancer. [Copyright, 1888, by the New York Associated Press.]

BERLIN, June 16 .- Professors Virehow, Waldeher and Bergmann went to the Fried drichskron Palace at the request of Emperor William, and remained for two hours. Their presence gave rise to a report that Emperor William had ordered a post-mortem examination to be made, although the dowager Empress Victoria was averse to it. Public feeling in Berlin distinctly favored the holding of such an examination, and the supposed abandonment of the plan caused a revival of the excitement against Dr. Mackenzie, who was charged with omitting an autopsy in order that he might prewent a final authoritative report as to the true maiady from which the Emperor died. Besides the doctors who conducted the autopsy, Count Von Stolberg-Wernigerode, court chamberiain, remained during the examination, which proved the existence of cancer. Dr. Markenzie's friends state that he concurred in the holding of the post-mortem. They also knew that he knew the character of the disease from an early period, but took the best course possible with the

THE NEW RULER.

He Issues Addresses to the Army and Navy-Germany Enters Upon a New Era. BERLIN. June 16 .- Emperor William II has

While the army has only just discarded the outward signs of mourning for the Emperor, King William I. my deeply revered grandfather, whose memory will ever live in all hearts, it has suffered a fresh and heavy blow by the death of my dear and warmly loved father. This is indeed a serious and sorrowful time, in which God's decree places me at the head of the army. It is from a deeply-moved heart I address my first words to my army, but the confidence with which I step into the place to which God's will calls me is immovably strong, for I bnow what sense of honor and duty my glorious ancestors have implanted in the army, and I know in how great a measure this feeling has at all times been manifested in the army. A firm and inviolable attachment to the war lord is an inheritance handed down from father to son, from generation to generation, and in the same way I refer you to my grandfather, who stands fresh in all your memories as the personification of the glorious and venerable war lord, such as could not be more finely conceived or in a form more speaking to the heart. I refer you to my beloved father, who as trown Prince already won a place of honor in the annas of the army, and to a long line of glorious ancestors whose names soine brightly in history and whose hearts beat warmly for the army. Thus we belong to each other—I and the army. Thus we were formed for one another, and thus we will stand together in an indissoluble bond in peace or storm, as God may will it. You will now take the nath of idelity and obe ience, and I swear ever to remember that the eyes of my ancestors look down moon me from the other world, and that I shall one issued the following general order to the army: member that the eyes of my ancestors look down upon me from the other world, and that I shall one day have to render an account to them of the glory

The following order has been issued to the heart, that my beloved father, the Emperor of Germany and King of Prussia. Frederick III, has departed this life peacefully in the Lord, and I, stepping into the place assigned me by God's will, have assumed the government of the land, falling to me by hereditary right, and therewith also the chief command of the navy. It is, indeed, a profoundly grave period in which I address my first words to the navy, which has only just ceased wearing the outward signs of mourning for my ever-to-be-remembered and beloved grandfather, Emperor William I, who, only last year, during his presence at Kiel, expressed in the warmest words his lively satisfaction at and appreciation of the development of the navy under his glorious government. The flags are already lowered for my much-beloved father, who so greatly rejoiced at and took so strong an interest in the growth and progress of the navy. Yet a time of deep and sincers mourning chastises and fortifies men's hearts. Thus we shall look confidently to the future, faithfully preserving in our hearts the memory of my grandfather and father. The navy knows that it not only gives me great joy to belong to it, by an external bond, but that since my earliest youth a warm and lively interest has in complete sympathy with my dear brother, Prince Henry, united me with the navy. I have learned to appreciate the high sense of honor and faithful fulfillment of duty prevailing in the navy. I know that every member of the save is recovered to get the get the recovered to get the recovered to get the recovered to get the recovered to get the get the get the get the recovered to get the get t ciate the high sense of honor and faithful fulfillment of duty prevailing in the navy. I know that every member of the navy is prepared joyfully to give his life for the honor of the German flag wherever he may be. Thus, in this sad hour, I can say with all confidence: "We shall stand together firmly and surely, in good and evil days, in storm as in sunshine, ever remembering the glory of the German fatherland and ever prepared to shed out hearts' blood for the honor of the German flag." In this God's blessing will be with us.

WILLIAM.

The appearance of to-day's message to the army, the first public act of the new Emperor has quickened the public perception of the fact that Germany is entering upon a new regime. No person expects immediate developments pointing to a critical state of affairs, but all the best informed military and diplomatic authorities are aware that the new Emperor's desire is to hasten the final outcome, whatever it may be, of the present political situation. As Crown Prince, he freely expressed the view that the condition of armed suspense in Europe for over two years ought to come to an end; that the triple alliance was able to defeat any possible coslition, and ought not to wait for a convenient time for its enemies to open the attack. His deep and open admiration for Prince Bismarck is considered as likely to bind him for some time to the Chancellor's policy, but within his own circle his character as a resolute, somewhat self-willed and ambitious man produces the belief that, despite his friendship for and devotion to Bismarck he will not wait long before seeking to give a decided impetus to Germany's foreign policy. His military ardor, which was forcibly ex-pressed in his address to the navv, is in unison with his impetuous and arbitrary temperament.
For a time he will be ready to listen to the Chancellor's advice, but ere long. unless that advice corresponds with his inclinations, he will give Bismarck trouble, Meantime, he is not only thoroughly infused with the Bismarck policy, but is submissive to the Chancellor's guidance. This deference is seen in his acceptance of the Prussian Ministry as at present constituted, with Count Secaditz Trutcher in Herr Von Puttkamer's place. If the new Emperor had followed the ideas he held when he was Crown Prince, Herr Putikamer would have been recalled and Count Friedberg The first full declaration of the new Emperor's policy is now understood as tak-ing the form of an address to the Prussian people, which is expected to be issued on Tues-day. The Reichstag will be summoned to meet June 25 to receive the message, and shortly afterward the Emperor will formally take the oath of the Constitution before the Landtag.

Speculation has been already busy regarding the tenor of the Emperor's address to the people. Officially, nothing is known of its character. Prince Bismarck had a conference today with the Prussian Ministry and afterwards obtained an audience with Emperor William II. The impression in the ministerial circle is that the address will be brief; that it will be explicit upon the Emperor's desire to maintain peace, and guarded upon the subject of the relations between the crown and the people.

Alarm in France. PARIS, June 16.-It is useless to deny that under cover of assumed confidence the death of Emperor Frederick has caused a feeling bere very much like dismay. It was impossible not to notice the silent agitation which pervaded the | 12,000. Score: Chamber of Depties when his Majesty's decease was announced. It is worthy of remark that not a single journal published an exagrerated of Emperor Frederick. He was respected here as a lover of of peace, and mingled with the expressions of sorrow at his death are dismal speculations as to the political consequences. Rightly or wrongly, the new Emperor is regarded as being animated by a bitter hatred of France and a desire to render his reign memorable by fresh laurels culled upon the battle-field at the expense of his hereditary foe.

La Republique Francaise speaks in terms of high praise of Empress Victoria. It says: "She has valiantly contended for her bushend with political interiors." political intriguers, just as she has disputed for him with death. She has triumphed over pedants, but at the cost of making bitter enemies. This noble princess, who has been sacrificed upon the altar of German science, is very unpopular; but if Frederick's reign had lasted opinion would have changed, and the liberal ideas of the daughter of Prince Albert would finally have entered into the people and modified the Prussian policy."

Another journal says: "It is not without uneasines that Europe, including Germany her self, witnesses the accession of William II. Bismarck, it is true, is on the spot, but the Chan-cellor begins to feel the burden of his years. Besides, there is no gurantee that his policy will be exactly what it was under William I Let us, therefore, be on our guard, without fear as without imprudence."

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

Serious Rioting in Constantinople Between Black Troops and Albanians. LONDON, June 16 .-- A very serious riot occurred in Constantinople on Tuesday. A regiment of black troops of the Imperial Guard came into collision with a regiment of Albanians in the streets and pitched battle with revolvers and bayonets ensued, resulting in the killing of several men on each side and the severe wounding of up-wards of forty on both sides before the fight could be quelled. Tremendous excitement prevailed during the conflict, and it was only through the efforts of Glazi Guran Pasha, the marshal of the Imperial palace, who rode to the scene at the head of a large body of troops, that the rioters were finally disarmed and driven to their quarters. The Sultan witnessed the fight from a window of the palace, and was greatly alarmed lest the affray portended an attack upon the palace and his assassination.

Hines Carries Off the Honors of the Hoosiers, Making Several Brilliant Plays-Other League and Association Games.

Special to the Indiarapolis Journes. PHILADETPHIA, June 16.-The Philadelphias won to-day's game from Indianapolis by good batting. Shreve's slow curves were hit hard throughout the game, and besides, he was poorly supported. The home team batted for a total of twenty bases, Farrar leading with a three-bagger and three singles, and Gleason with three singles. Gleason pitched a great game; six hits were all the Hoosiers could make, and one of these was a scratch. The visitors hit the ball hard, and the home outfielders had plenty of work. Fogarty made two good catches from McGeachy's bat, and threw Buckley out at the home plate in the fifth inning. Glasscock played very poorly, and his errors gave the home team three runs. Hines carried off the honors for his side. All of his eatches were hard, and on one of them he made a beautiful throw to first and put Farrar out, making a remarkably quick double play. McGeachy made two long singles and hit the ball hard every time he was at the bat. The visitors scored two runs in the second inning on singles by Denny, McGeachy dan Buckley, a fumble by Andrews. and a dropped thrown ball by Farrar, and in the seventh Buckley made a run on a base on balls, a single by Shreve, a fumble by Fogarty, and Hines's long fly to Wood. There were many close decisions the game, and Daniels favored the home team. The Indianapolis club is in good shape now, except for pitchers. Manager Spence says he will have another new face in the box in a short time, and then, as soon as Boyle re covers, the team will soon regain its lost INDIANAPOLIS. PHILADELPHIA.

Mr. Brush's Return.

President J. T. Brush has returned from the East. He is well satisfied with the work of the team, which he considers as good as could reasonably have been expected. "If we do not win another game I will not be disappointed," says he, "for I consider seven games out of twenty-two a very fair record for a club occupying the position ours has had, and being ac much dis-abled as we have been. When the team went away I told Manager Spence that I would be satisfied if he returned with eight games. Well, we had two postponed games at Pitts-burg, and thus lost a good show for a victory or two, so that I think seven will do well enough, especially consider-ing Boyle's disablement." Mr. Brush denied the report concerning dissatisfaction with Manager Spence, and said he was surprised that such a report should have started. The direct-ors, so far as he knew, were well pleased with Spence. He was indignant, also, at the reports of dissipation among the players. for which, he said, there was not the slightest foundation.

Big Natural Gas Well. Louisville, June 16 .- Thursday afternoon big strike of natural gas was made in a well being sunk on the farm of Capt. John McRae, in Harrison county, Indiana, twenty miles from New Albany, by the Mesers. De Panw, of that city. The gas was found at a depth of 238 feet, and after the drill had penetrated seven feet into the gas-bearing rock. The flow rushed forth with great force from the mouth of the well, and upon being ignited burned with a steady flame a distance of ten feet in the air. The Mesers. De Pauw have leases on many thousands of acres of land in the vicinity of the well, and have several parties of workmen now en-gaged in sinking wells. They have already struck fine flows of gas in five wells, and the probabilities are that the combined output will be piped to New Albany, it being the opinion of experts that a sufficient volume can be easily obtained to furni-h fuel for all the manufacturing enterprises of New Albany. Business Embarrassments. LOUISVILLE, June 16 -The failure of the Kentucky Flour Company, which has done a heavy baking business and has also dealt largely in flour, was announced to-day. A deed of assignment was made late last night, naming the Fidelity Trust Company assignee. Nominal assets, $60,000; liabilities, $80,000. The cause assigned is inability to collect many small debts. The principal stockholders are Foster Thomas and Horace Bassaw.

CHICAGO, June 16 -Confessions of judgment seer-gating $18,000 were entered in the Circuit Court to day against Harry C. Goodrich, manufacturer of sewing machine attachments. No statement has been filed, but it is understood the judgments fully cover the assets, and that the liabilities are considerable more.

PHILADELPHIA. June 16-Dr. Rachel L. Bodley, dean of the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania, for twelve years, died suddenly late yester lay. Heart failure is the cause given. The remains will be taken to-night for interment at Cincinnati, her native place. Dr.
Bodlev was about sixty years of age and had made the study of medicine her life work. She studied medicine and took a degree in Cincinnati, where she afterwards was an instructor.

June 16 .- A cloudburst ocenred at Titusville, last night, and about $10,000 worth of property was destroyed. The fall of water was tremendous. A three-footwide brook grew to one hundred feet in an hour. Some of the creeks rose six feet in less than an hour. RAILWAY WRECK AT ANDERSON.

Cincinnati, Wabash & Michigan Train Derailed-Engineer Badly Scalded.

pecial to the Indianapolis Journal.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 16 .- The Cincinnati Wabash & Michigan passenger due here from the north at 9:10 to night met with an accident on the curve near the Anderson bolt-works, and was badly wrecked. The train was a few minutes behind time, and was passing through the city at a lively rate of speed. At the Williams-street crossing the engine encountered a horse on the track and struck the animal with terrific force. The horse was cut completely in twain, and the engine, mail car, and smoker thrown from the track. The engine tumbled down a ten-foot embankment, and is lying bottom side op in what is known as Green's branch. To all appearances it is badly damaged, but to what extent cannot be learned tonight. The fireman saved himself by jumping when the engine left the rails, but enginear Rodabaugh kept his hand on the throttle until the engine toppled oven He is considerably scalded, and suffers intense pain. As examination shows that the engine had been reversed and the air brakes set. The mail car is standing diagonally across the track, with the front down over the embankment, while the smoker is off the track and the trucks torn from under it. None of the passengers were injured. A large crowd of people are visiting the wreck.

TRAIN ROBBERY.

One Passenger Killed and the Mail Agent and Train Newsboy Wounded.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., June 16 .- The south-bound Missouri, Kansas & Texas express was robbed about 9 o'clock last night at Verdigris bridge. From parties who were on the train it is learned that the train stopped at the bridge to put off some baggage, and had just started to pull out again, when the engineer was covered by a revolver and the express car was entered. The express messenger was taken by surprise, as, it being a very warm night, the side door was open. Before he could close it two men entered the car and robbed him of about $8 and one valuable package. One stot was fired into the mail-car, the bullet passing through the left arm of Charles Colton, the mail agent. Two shote were fired in the front of the smoking-car, one going through the right forearm of Henry Ryan, the train-boy. The other struck a passenger named Ben C. Traver in the left cheek, and passing backward broke his neck, causing instant death. The wounded and dead were brought to this pince, but the mail agent went on south. His was a flesh wound. Deputy Marshal Tyson and posse are preparing to give pursuit as soon as they can cross the Arkansas river. There were seven men engaged in the robbery. No effort was made to rob the passengers. The dead man's home was in Rosebud, Ter. He was a single man, and was going home from a trip to Chicago. The leader of the robbers gave his name as Captain Jack. Some of them were masked. Big Verdict for Damages. CHICAGO, June 16.—The sum of $20,000 was awarded by a jury in Judge Altgelde's court to-day, in the suit of Rev. Charles E. Mandeville, paster of the Western-avenue M. E. Church, for injuries which he sustained April 26, 1886, when a mason's wooden horse fell from the fifth story of a building on Washington street and struck the doctor on the head. The verdict is against Alexander J. Alexander, of Covington, Ky. owner of the building. Alexander moved for a

Knights of Pythias Band Prizes. CINCINNATI, June 16 .- The Supreme Lodge of Knights of Pythias will be in session all next week. Its members are the only ones that re-main to-night. The awards of the six prizes by the three United States officers will probably not be made until Monday or Tuesday. The band awards were made to-day, as follows: Elgin Watch Company band, first, $500; Tiffin, O., band, second, $200; Whiteland, Ind., band, third, $100. For the drill prizes there were thirteen contestants.

The Diss Debars Convicted.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The jury in the Diss Debar case brought in a verdict of guilty at noon to-day. The verdict was a surprise, as was understood that the jury were unable to agree and they were just being brought into court to be discharged, when the stubborn eleven induced the odd man to join them in a verdict of guilty against both the General and Anne Odelta Dies Debar. Sentence was deferred un-

One was siezed with cramps and both were drowned while the other was attempting a rescue. Their ages were about twelve years.

The Applause for Cleveland.

Of all the arrant nonsense thus far introduced into the campaign that which relates to the ento distinction. Cleveland's name was mentioned several times before Dougherty nominated him and the managers measured the applause with stop watches. Upon no other occasion was any considerable interest manifested and at that time the racket was an nearly mechanical as could be expected from a vast crowd without re-hearsal. Of course it would not be fair to pre-sume that each man who relled for thirty min-utes after the conclusion of Dougherty's speech had been drilled and sent for that purpose. Infection works fast and generally in a crowd and thousands cheered because hundreds did. Go out upon a busy street at any time of day and stop and point your finger at a clear sky and see how many hundreds of curious fools will congregate and gaze intently at the indicated point.

All the dudes in town have taken to pockets. All the dudes in town have taken to doing it, and every chappie on Fifth-avenue after the Wednesday matiness this week was actually lop-sided with the exertion of reaching the very bottom seam of his left trousers pocket. If you can let the tips of the fingers of a pair of tan-colored gloves be seen in juxtaposition to your left cuff just at the mouth of the pocket you will thereby proclaim yourself one of the Wales's strictest adherents, ye knaw. Don't, as you value your reputation for swellishness, pot your right hand in your right pocket. ness, put your right hand in your right pocket, for this is as much a breach of good form as it used to be to carry your gloves with the fingers pointing aft instead of forward.

Indiana the Fighting Ground. Boston Advertiser.

The hottest fights of the next campaign will be in New York, Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticut. New York is the most important, but the most uncertain point, and the Republican party would take a gambler's chances if it should arrange its lines with reference chiefly to that State. Connecticut upon the overshadowing issue of the present year is reasonably certain to east its vote for any good Republican candidates, but New Jersey will have to be contacted under the best conditions or it will prohably be Democratical With New York last, Indiana is necessary to Republican success unless the South is broken. The party one losse New York and either New Jersey or Connecticuts and yet win. Sett if it looses New York and Indiana it is bearen. We are proceeding upon the assumption that the States normally Republican will a prort the nominees of the party.

Indiana is therefore necessary in any probable condition of the yote if New York is lost.
